Drywall/Lathers (union construction) — Simple math,  $m/r^2$  is basically  $2/1$ ,  $E = mc^2$  states all mass to be square which is not cubed, a square is flat.  $2 + 1 = 3$  as in dimensional reality. Time being a concept as Al stated. If we think of Hawking's work stating all points of the universe to be center gravity bending space time around itself, well all points center means all points overlap simply. A particle of light universal center, Earth passing at light speed that particle center makes time stop relative to said particle, or both ideas are wrong. if we imagine the universe being flat being it has mass, it would be flat in all directions, connecting all points, this author believes this explains wormholes. the singularity shown in the math above (the 1) shows another gravity force. motion of all kinds being reverse gravitational forces. rotation being a reverse gravity force out from center gravity toward a center relatively understanding the two, mass being two dimensional according to Al's math. all points both occupying the same space as well as dimensional space giving the reason for the Doppler (E)ffect being condensed energy singular and dimensional, a natural limit would occur all points occupying the same space. this singular material the most likely conductor of dark energy, like a generator in rotation.
