

Abstract for an Invited Paper for the DNP08 Meeting of
The American Physical Society

Studying the Universe Underground

HITOSHI MURAYAMA, IPMU Tokyo and UC Berkeley

To study the Universe, underground would sound like the last place for the purpose. It turns out that it may well be the best place for it. I will discuss why it is so, using examples of various big questions about the Universe. What is it made of? Why do we exist? How do the stars shine?