The American Physical Society

Scientific Paper Writing Workshop BODIL HOLST, Nanophysics Group, University of Bergen, Norway — The Scientific Paper Writing Workshop has two main goals. Firstly, to provide the participants with a set of tools helping them to present their scientific results in a clear and interesting way and, secondly, to make them aware of various strategic issues connected to paper writing (in which journal to publish, cover letter to the editor, etc.). The workshop is presented in English. The participants are encouraged to bring drafts of own papers, in particular an abstract for at least one paper, but this is not a prerequisite.
