A Framework for K-12 Science Education
HELEN QUINN, Stanford University

I will discuss the content and purpose of the NRC study report “a framework for k-12 science education” and report on the ongoing project led by Achieve, in which over 20 states are engaged to develop science standards based on this document.