Directors of Naturoptics for Safe Recovery of Vision<sup>TM</sup>, Inc. Release Patented Process to Awardees for their Personal Use and Mentored Teaching of the Process PAUL J. GIORDANO, N.D., D.C., Giordano Wellness Clinic, Methuen, MA, ROGER DAVID MCLEOD<sup>1</sup>, Univ. Mass. Lowell; Naturoptics, Inc. — The Board of Directors of Naturoptics for Safe Recovery of Vision<sup>TM</sup>, Inc., US Patent Office, trademark issued, patent issue date April 8, 2008, has granted “The David Matthew Mc Leod Memorial Award,” to named individuals. Naturoptics<sup>TM</sup> teaching earnings by recipients are to be disbursed according to agreed percentages to named academic entities and to the awardees. When awardees sign non-disclosure agreements, they are shown why the process is safe. They are also taught that no diagnostic or treatment techniques are used, necessary or allowed for the processes. This is an educational consultation that explains how Naturoptics<sup>TM</sup> inventor, Roger David Mc Leod, safely and rapidly recovered his vision. The now patented processes as taught is released for the use of those awardees that sign agreements that they were merely provided a teaching service, and will only be doing educational consulting for their clients. Such clients must follow similar procedures. Other equivalent work-study grants are named “The Kaan Balam Matagamon Memorial Award,” also in memory of DMM. The American Indians in Science and Engineering Society may also be participating.
