

APR10-2010-020182

Abstract for an Invited Paper for the APR10 Meeting of the American Physical Society

The Value of Diversity in STEM

SHIRLEY MALCOM, American Association for the Advancement of Science

For many fields there is ready acknowledgment of the value of diversity in the research community and in the formulation of research questions. By contrast there has been resistance to such ideas in areas such as mathematics and physics. How does one make the case for diversity in these communities?