The American Physical Society

The APS-SCOAP<sup>3</sup> Partnership

MATTHEW MARSTELLER, Carnegie Mellon Univ — All high-energy physics articles in Physical Review C, Physical Review D and Physical Review Letters are now published Open Access thanks to an APS-SCOAP<sup>3</sup> partnership. Authors incur no costs and no additional burden, and retain copyright to their work. Expenses are met by a network of libraries and research institutions. All APS members can help making this initiative sustainable by engaging within their institutions. This poster will outline how the APS-SCOAP<sup>3</sup> partnership works, how the community benefits, and how it can help.
