

MAR10-2010-020315

Abstract for an Invited Paper for the MAR10 Meeting of the American Physical Society

Graduate Education in Physics in the 21st Century

CHERRY MURRAY, Harvard University

Much has changed in the role of physics in the US in the last several decades. The US and the globe face many challenges in the 21st century that would benefit from physics approaches and training. Is our graduate education preparing Ph D's in physics for these challenges?