Using your own computer to search for novel materials (with a little help from the aflowlib.org consortium online library)¹

STEFANO CURTAROLO, Materials Science, Electrical Engineering and Physics; Duke University

In this presentation, we show how to use on-line resources to search for novel thermoelectrics, topological-insulators, magnets, and binary/ternary phase diagrams.

In collaboration with Ohad Levy, Materials Science, Duke University; Marco Buongiorno Nardelli, University of North Texas; and Natalio Mingo, CEA, Grenoble.
