Abstract for an Invited Paper for the TSS17 Meeting of the American Physical Society

SPS Evening of Undergraduate Science

JAMES MERRICK, Society of Physics Students

The Society of Physics Students (SPS) invites all undergraduates and their mentors attending the meeting to participate in an informational talk on benefits and opportunities to joining the SPS community. This interactive dialogue will outline how SPS can help you become involved in the community (locally and nationally), conduct research and outreach, communicate on a national scale, and take advantage of the resources available to you. Even if you've not done so yet, come learn how to make a big impact in your local department and the physics and astronomy community as a whole.
