Topological surface states along antiwires ALEXANDER PUNNOOSE, WEI LIU, City College of New York — Surface states along amorphous columnar defects in three-dimensional topological insulators are considered. The response of these states to a magnetic field and their contribution to thermoelectric transport will be discussed.